Research grant period extended

The ARBS foundation directors have extended the period to receive research grant proposals.

An end date of 30 April was set previously. The directors have decided to receive proposals through to the end of May. This will allow discussion amongst industry participants during the ARBS Exhibition which will be held in Melbourne during the period 17 – 19 May.

Research proposals are invited from individual people (including students), companies or education institutions.

The board is making $25,000 available each year during each of the next 3 years to support research.

ARBS Foundation chairman, Ian Hopkins, said these grants are a wonderful opportunity to make a constructive approach to improving industry productivity.

Further details about the research grants and scholarship opportunities is available on the website. www.arbsfoundation.com.au
